THE REAL ESTATE MARKET

OLD HOME OF THE ARTS CLUB LEASED FOR BUSINESS.

ofth Street Change Hands-A Loft Building on Washington Square and Some Fine Dweilings Were Also Sold.

The brokerage business reported yesterday made a good showing in point of volume and was decidedly above the average as regards the quality of the property dealt The purchases included a mercantile building on Washington Square, an elevator apartment house on the West Side and a couple of high grade private dwellings. These transactions are of special interest because they maintain unbroken the series of deals in expensive realty which have been a daily feature of the brokerage news for upward of a week. Since Wednesday of last week, for example, fourteen mercantile buildings or sites intended for improvement with such buildings have been sold, a record not equalled before this

Yesterday's dealing in the ordinary run of flats, tenements, inexpensive dwellings and vacant lots was also on a somewhat larger scale than it has been of late. Of course an important influence in bringing out property for sale just now is the fact that banks are calling in mortgages, with the result that many owners are obliged to realize what they can on their equities. However, even in the present financhasing power enough in the "investing public" to take up good bargains without forcing prices down to the auction room level, and the number of foreclosure sales has so far been notably small.

The following summary of the building situation throughout the country appears in the current number of the Construction News: cial disturbances, there seems to be pur-

During October permits were taken ou construction of 11,785 buildings, involving a total consideration of $41,350,179, against 18,179 buildings aggregating in cost $47,-399,124 for the corresponding mouth a year ago, a decrease of 1,394 buildings and $6,- ago, a decrease of 1,394 buildings and 36,048,945, or 13 per cent.

The middle Weat, including Ohio, makes the best showing. Surprising as it may seem, however, New York city [Manhattan and The Bronx], which has been running behind for months, made a gain in October of 53 per cent. Chicago, which showed a heavy gain in September in October, had a loss of 5 per cent. A decrease in Philadelphia of 59 per cent. In a very material delphia of 59 per cent, is a very material falling off, for the reason that the totals of that city never vary greatly. Ohio seem to be in pretty good condition, Cleveland having a gain of 281 per cent, and Cincinnati 118. Toledo and Columbus, Ohio, have suffered small losses. In the Northwest St. Paul and Minneapolis showed increases respec tively of 77 and 13 per cent., while in Duluth there was a decrease of 33. It is a little late and maybe it is not the cause, but St. Louis egins to' show the effect of overbuilding. the decrease amounting to 55 per cent., while Kansas City had a gain of 24.

There were increases in Omaha of 37, Salt Lake City 22, and Denver 2 per cent. The South generally shows a falling off, Baltimore leading with 34 per cent., Chattanooga 50, Mobile 20, while Birmingham has a gain of The Pacific Coast cities are not making mite as satisfactory a showing, but the figures for Portland and Seattle have not been received. San Francisco showed a decrease of 75, Los Angeles 45, Tacoma 22 per cent. While Spokane bad an increase of 82. Reports for the time being indicate that considerable new work has been deferred emporarily because of the tight money market. This is to be expected, but it is be-leved that it will be brief and that matters will right themselves within a very short Very little building, as most people know, is for speculative purposes. It is to meet urgent necessity, and owners are provements just as soon as conditions are a fittle more favorable.

occasion of the Fulton celebration (Bryant Union Company, New York). The author points out with much detail what may be seen on either bank on the voyage up to Albany, and supplies historical notes. After Albany he swarves to Saratoga and Lake George. The book is getten up very prettily; it might be improved by inserting maps of the districts described.

For bridge players Mr. Charles Stuart Street provides refinements in playing the game in "Good Bridge" (Desk), Mead and Company). It is offered as its improvement and addition to the author's "Bridge Up to Date." Up to Date."

Any amount of sensible advice on business matters will be found in Mr. Charles Putzel's "Commercial Precedents" (American Publishing Company, Hartford), which is bessed on the answers to questions given in many years by the New York Journal of Commercial White of Commerce. While it will solve prob-lems for ordinary purposes, it should be borne in mind, however, that the best of gratuitous advice is dangerous when it is a question of an actual law suit!

Interesting light is thrown on the jani-tor's life by a real estate company's book of directions, "Remoo's Manual of Apart-ment House Service" (The McClure Com-pany). The tenant's awe of that impor-tant person will be increased by reading the tant person will be increased by reading the multifarious duties that are imposed upon him by his employers and the varied knowledge he is supposed to possess. The tenant may form a proper idea, too, of his own lack of importance by noticing the restrictions put upon him and the supercitious disregard of any individual desires he may have in the manual. He, his family, his servants, and above all his children, must be kept in their proper place.

A recent addition to yachting literature is Paul Eve Stephenson's "The Race for the Emperor's Cup" (The Rudder Publishing C. mpany, New York). Mr. Stephenson sailed on the yawl Ailsa and he has given a goo. sketch of the experiences of that yacht in a hard battle across the Atlantic. The Ailsa had rather a hard time of it. The race was a hot one and yachtsmen battled for days with head winds and high seas for the glory of winning the prizes offered by the German Emperor The ook contains a short history of each yacht that took part in the race, the logs, drawings of the sail plans, charts showing the tracks of the rooms across the ocean and pictures of the yachts.

Fire Under Cornelius Vanderbilt's StoppSome rubbish in an ashcan under the stoop in the house of Cornelius Vanderbilt, at e77 Fifth avenue, got on fire about noon yesterday and sont smoke through the basement. Policeman Frich of the traffo squad helped the servants put out the fire. Mrs. Vanderbilt was in the house, but did not know of the fire until after it was out. Some workness in the place put rubbish in the can, presumably on top of hot ashes.
